CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Good afternoon. The Commission meets today to discuss the status of the agency's Equal Employment Opportunity Program. The NRC staff briefs the Commission semiannually on this topic, and our last meeting on this topic was held in February.

Based on the material provided to us before the meeting, I believe that the agency has continued to make very significant progress in the EEO arena and the related activities concerning the management of human capital and the retention of core competency.

As I think everyone in the room knows, these are central concerns of the Commission, which remains committed to achieve positive results in our EEO and human capital programs.

We, therefore, appreciate the hard work and conscientious efforts of those who you see opposite us this morning and those obviously in the agency who work on these programs.

Each of you has made vital contributions to the success of our efforts to date. Nonetheless we should not lose sight of the challenges we still 1 face.

2 As noted at the last briefing, we 3 remained at a crossroads in the agency's history in 4 the sense that the full impact of the actions we 5 take today will affect the agency for years to come, 6 particularly when the retirements that are 7 inevitably going to occur actually happen.

8 We must insure that we can retain those 9 we hire, successfully replace those we will 10 ultimately lose, and continue to foster equal 11 opportunity for all NRC employees.

12 The Commission very much looks forward 13 to today's briefing, and I appreciate your 14 willingness today to readjust the schedule from 15 being in the morning to being a meeting this 16 afternoon. That was a step that was taken to 17 accommodate me as a result of a meeting that got 18 scheduled that I had to attend.

19 Let me just note at the outset that one 20 of the unfortunate consequences of transferring to 21 the meeting to the afternoon has been that some of 22 my Commission colleagues have some other commitments 23 that have arisen or that have existed beforehand, 24 and they may have to leave the meeting before we 25 complete it. I hope you'll understanding the 1 circumstances.

2 And with that, I'd like to turn the 3 meeting over to Dr. Travers.

4 MR. TRAVERS: Thank you, Mr. Chairman,
5 and good afternoon. Good afternoon to everyone who 6 has managed to come to this afternoon's meeting.

7 We are pleased to be here today to 8 provide the Commission with information on the 9 status and progress of the agency's Equal Employment
10 Opportunity Program.

11 Before we proceed, let me introduce the 12 people who are participating in today's meeting. In 13 fact, let me start my left by introducing Ujagar
14 Bhachu, who is the Chair of the Advisory Committee 15 on Asian-Pacific Americans, who will in a few 16 moments provide an EEO Advisory Committee 17 perspective.

18 Sam Collins, Director of the Office of 19 Nuclear Reactor Regulation.

20 Pat Norry, who is my Deputy for 21 Management Services.

22 Irene Little, Director of the Office of 23 Small Business and Civil Rights.

24 And Paul Bird, Director of our Office of 25 Human Resources.

NEAL R. GROSS

COURT REPORTERS AND TRANSCRIBERS
1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 Also participating in the briefing and 2 seated just behind me in the first row are David 3 Solorio, who is the Co-chair of the Hispanic
4 Employment Program Advisory Committee; Mike 5 Marshall, who is the Co-chair of the African 6 American Advisory Committee; Amy Snyder, who is the 7 Chair of the Federal Women's Program Advisory 8 Committee; and Buck Ibrahim, who is Co-chair of the 9 Committee on Age Discrimination.

10 Also joining us is Dale Yielding of the 11 National Treasury Employees Union.

12 I'd like to begin my report by saying 13 that we in NRC management remain committed to 14 carrying out an effective EEO program, and we 15 continue to seek ways to solicit employee input and 16 to enhance our own accountability in this area.

17 I want to discuss just briefly some of 18 the things that we have done since our last meeting 19 with the Commission in February and reflect on some 20 of the progress that I think we have made in the 21 overall EEO Program.

22 I am happy to report that we have 23 completed action to insure that every manager and 24 supervisor in the agency has an EEO sub-element in 25 their elements and standards currently. This

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 provides, we believe, a uniform way to evaluate the 2 progress in the EEO Program and to recognize 3 managers who are doing innovative things in their 4 organizations.

5 The feedback that I've received from Pat
6 and Irene, based on their review of SES evaluations 7 thus far, is that the rating officials are doing a 8 pretty good job in addressing EEO accomplishments in 9 the evaluations.

10 During our April 11th, 2002, senior 11 management meeting, I dedicated a special session to 12 discuss a number of topics, including communication, 13 employee development, feedback to employees, EEO 14 expectations, and general management accountability.

15 I believe this session reaffirmed to the 16 agency's top leadership that achieving our EEO goals 17 is an integral part of achieving our overall mission 18 goals.

19 While we recognize the challenge of 20 making further progress in our EEO goals, I want to 21 take a moment to reflect on some of the successes of 22 our EEO programs and take this opportunity to thank 23 our managers and staff employees for working 24 together really to get the agency to the point we're 25 at.

NEAL R. GROSS

1 I am pleased by the success we have 2 seen, especially over the past five years. Some 3 notable examples include entry level hiring efforts 4 which have yielded a large group of highly qualified 5 employees from diverse backgrounds.

6 As a result, representation in each 7 minority group in the work force has kept pace with 8 the agency's growth.

9 Representation of Hispanics in the work
10 force and in professional positions has doubled.
11 The number of Asian employees in supervisory 12 positions has increased somewhat, from about 4.5
13 percent to a little over five percent. Trending 14 data shows that white women in supervisory positions 15 increased steadily from about 12 percent to about 15 16 percent.

17 Additionally, our alternate dispute 18 resolution process is increasingly being used to 19 resolve allegations of discrimination in what we 20 like to call a win-win environment. It has also 21 resulted in cost savings to the agency.

22 Success in our EEO Program has been 23 recognized by our employees and by the broader 24 federal community. Our employees through the EEO
25 Advisory Committees have identified and recognized

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 several managers and employees for their 2 contributions to the agency's EEO program.

3 And just two examples of that are Ashok 4 Thadani, the Director of the Office of Regulatory 5 Research, who was recognized by the Hispanic
6 community in 2002, and early this month Luis Reyes,
7 Regional Administrator, Region II, was the recipient
8 of an EEO award for his efforts in recruiting 9 Hispanics for federal employment.

10 Again, despite the progress the agency 11 has made, we still face challenges in maintaining 12 and enhancing our EEO Program. Two of our greatest 13 challenges are retaining the breadth and depth of 14 our technical knowledge base as members of our more 15 experienced work force retire or move on to other 16 assignments and, secondly, maintaining diversity
17 within the SES ranks.

18 Pat and Irene are going to address some 19 of the strategies that we are using to pursue in 20 assisting the agency in meeting these challenges.

21 Before I turn the meeting over to Pat,
22 I'd just like to mention that Irene has indicated 23 that she will be retiring in January, and this will 24 be her last meeting with us at the semiannual EEO 25 Commission meetings. I'd certainly like to

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 recognize the significant contributions that Irene
2 has made to the agency both here at Headquarters,
3 and previously in Region III.

4 Noteworthy, this year Irene is also the 5 recipient of the Presidential Meritorious Rank 6 Award. We hope you'll be joining us for the annual 7 work ceremony, Irene.

8 MS. LITTLE: Yes.

9 MR. TRAVERS: And now let me turn the 10 meeting over to Pat.

11 MS. NORRY: Thanks, Bill.

12 First I'd like to echo Bill's statement
13 about management commitment. We see continuing 14 evidence that management is committed to an 15 effective EEO Program, and we're finding more and 16 more that employees have very good ideas for how we 17 can achieve some of our specific EEO goals.

18 So I'd like to talk briefly about some 19 of the initiatives that we've worked on in the last 20 six months, but first I wanted to highlight several 21 issues from the last SRM from our February briefing.

22 Staff was asked to examine how the 23 federally mandated competitive sourcing initiative
24 might impact diversity on the agency. As you know, 25 as part of the President's management agenda, OMB is

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 requiring federal agencies to complete public-
2 private competitions or direct conversions on 15 3 percent by '03 of positions that have been 4 identified as commercial type positions.

5 And we have accomplished the fiscal year 6 '02 goal, which was 26 positions, which was largely 7 accomplished through the conversion of positions 8 that were vacated.

9 The impact of diversity on our work 10 force will have to be a large consideration as we 11 look at how we are going to accomplish our '03 goals 12 because that would involve 52 positions, and there 13 is a group representing the entire agency that is 14 studying this now and is going to be making 15 recommendations on how to accomplish this goal. And 16 we will be watching this issue particularly as they 17 go along.

18 Secondly, we were asked to examine ways 19 to assist managers in nurturing new employees. In 20 response to that request, we developed some written 21 guidance that goes to managers and supervisors as 22 they hire new employees, and it's included in the 23 Nuclear Safety Internal Program manual, which is 24 used by intern mentors.

25 And the Director of HR has advised

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 office directors and regional administrators that 2 performance appraisals of SES managers should 3 address accomplishments in this area, particularly 4 how they help new employees to become acclimated.

5 Third, staff was asked to determine if 6 waste fund monies could be used to fund the 7 Historically Black Colleges and Universities Program 8 in support of students and faculty working at the 9 Center for Nuclear Waste Regulatory Analysis. This 10 is a real success story.

11 We were able to modify the interagency 12 agreement, obligate $20,000, and we're in the 13 process of posting students at the center. And this 14 effort will be continued in the following year.

15 A few other efforts are certainly worth 16 mentioning. We convened a team of employees from 17 Irene's office and Paul's office to meet, to work
18 with members, actually volunteers, from Asian, 19 African American, and Hispanic groups who were 20 interested in talking about how certain obstacles 21 could be overcome in the advancement of minorities 22 in the agency.

23 And we wanted to get their input and to 24 develop some strategies for addressing these issues.
25 We talked about focused recruitment. We talked

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 about upper mobility. We talked about mentoring and 2 rotations, and as well as other subjects that were 3 of specific interest to specific groups.

4 We then established action plans to 5 focus on specific initiatives, and some of the 6 examples of initiatives that were identified were to 7 encourage managers and senior staff to serve as 8 mentors to employees in these groups so that career 9 advice could be provided and guidance and feedback.

10 One group suggested very strongly -- and 11 this was a developing awareness on our part -- that 12 we needed to do a better job of providing feedback
13 across the board. So it was suggested that training 14 be given because this is not necessarily an inborn 15 skill of managers.

16 And so a course has now been developed 17 which is specifically designed to train managers in 18 how to use this skill in a better way.

19 Some of the group members have agreed to 20 be proactive in meeting with management in major 21 program offices, to get information regarding 22 rotational opportunities and to share that 23 information with colleagues. I know that goes on in 24 Sam's office, and you'll probably hear more about 25 that from him.

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 Group members are going to encourage 2 their colleagues to use IDPs to assist employees in 3 getting them some kind of an organized development 4 track.

5 We're pretty optimistic that if we 6 follow through, and there's a lot of enthusiasm in 7 these groups to follow through, that we'll be able 8 to achieve even more success in our EEO goals.

9 One of the changes that Bill noted 10 earlier is increasing diversity among our 11 supervisors and managers in the SES ranks. When you 12 graduated 42 members of the Leadership Potential 13 Program, this gave us a really good core of 14 candidates trained and eligible for assignments to 15 supervisory positions, and these graduates, as you 16 probably know, can be assigned noncompetitively to 17 supervisory positions at the same grade.

18 And they also should be hired 19 competitive for positions at the next grade because 20 of their leadership training.

21 But the current pipeline for SES
22 positions is not very diverse. The leadership 23 potential graduates will certainly feed into this 24 program in the future, but that won't be enough to 25 prevent minority under representation in the SES

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.

1 corps.

2 So we are certainly aware of that as a
3 major challenge. We are encouraging our managers to 4 do their part to reemphasize the IDP process, to be 5 aware of the availability of all candidates and all
6 people who could or should be, for instance, rotated 7 into different positions, to better train them for 8 the future.

9 All of that is an awareness issue so 10 that can get on a structured development path, and 11 managers are expected to encourage and facilitate 12 rotations and developmental assignments of all 13 employees, and we will continue the SES candidate 14 development program on a recurring basis as new 15 graduates are placed in SES positions.

16 And finally, I'd like to acknowledge the 17 continuing efforts of the ERB/EEO Committee, which 18 was formed actually how many years ago? It's been 19 at least ten years, and it continues and is charged 20 by Margaret Federline, and its purpose is to raise 21 awareness to office directors and regional 22 administrators of the availability of highly 23 qualified women and minority candidates.

24 They're looking now at the '02 data to 25 determine the trends in selections, and they do more

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 than that. They look at criteria, whether the 2 criteria for the position had been properly
3 described, that kind of thing.

4 So it's a very active group, and they 5 continue. They have a lot of energy and are doing a 6 good job.

7 And so now I'd like to ask Irene Little 8 to highlight some additional EEO achievements and 9 strategies.

10 Irene.

11 MS. LITTLE: Thank you, Pat.

12 Before I make my remarks, I would like 13 to offer Ujagar Bhachu the opportunity to make a 14 statement on behalf of the EEO Advisory Committees.

15 MR. BHACHU: Yes. Good afternoon,
16 Chairman Meserve, Commissioners, directors,
17 managers, and the staff. Thank you, Equal 18 Employment Opportunity Advisory Committees and the 19 Office of Small Business and Civil Rights, for your 20 dedicated commitment, hard work, and valuable 21 contribution to the agency's Equal Employment 22 Opportunity Program.

23 As reflected in the joint statement
24 provided to you, the Advisory Committees have five 25 recommendations for addressing significant equal

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 employment opportunity issues, and they are:

2 Increase minority representation at the 3 supervisory and SES levels;

4 Continue targeted recruitment effort for 5 minority groups;

6 Insure that performance appraisals hold
7 managers and supervisors accountable for successful
8 implementation of NRC's Equal Employment Opportunity
9 Program;

10 Insure fairness in performance
11 appraisals, retention, assignment, awards, and 12 promotions for all staff, including those at age 50 13 and over;

14 Continue to foster a family friendly
15 work place.

16 The Office of Human Resources has taken 17 some positive actions to enhance targeted 18 recruitment of minorities. This effort needs to be 19 continued and reinforced through close 20 collaborations with appropriate colleges and 21 universities to foster short and long-term 22 relationships for recruitment purposes.

23 Enhanced retention of qualified 24 employees. We much contribute an environment and 25 corporate culture that makes new employees welcome

1 and makes them functional to their full potential in 2 the shortest space of time.

3 This will require managers and 4 supervisors to exert additional efforts to put in 5 place planning and willingness to supply sustained 6 support for development.

7 To increase minority representation at 8 all levels, particularly at the supervisory and SES 9 levels, the agency has given managers a tool kit.
10 This kit includes powerful, exotic tools, for 11 example, the NBMSS diversity panel, empowerment 12 initiative, government programs, mentoring, 13 retention, rewards, recognition, and merit staffing 14 system.

15 However, managers and supervisors need 16 to use these tools wisely and in a fair and 17 equitable manner in accordance with the instructions 18 provided in the agency established directives, 19 policies, and procedures.

20 In this world at large, it is stark
21 reality that ageism, sexism, and racism are alive
22 and doing well. However, the existence of the NRC
23 Equal Employment Opportunity Program and the support 24 of senior management for its implementation, 25 including attendance at this meeting, confirms the

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 agency's resolve to maintain a discrimination free
2 work place.

3 It is this high level resolve that forms
4 a firm foundation for building a world class work 5 force for the agency, a diverse work force with a 6 spectrum of talents and skills which has a promise 7 to maximize the organizational performance and 8 foster greater effectiveness in actualizing the 9 NRC's vision, values, and mission.

10 As an agency, we know what to do. We 11 can do it. Actually we have been doing it.

12 Furthermore, the Advisory Committees
13 believe that we need to do more of it and better 14 still. The Advisory Committees remain confident 15 that together we can do it more effectively.

16 Thank you, ladies and gentlemen.

17 MS. LITTLE: Thank you, Ujagar.

18 I want to begin my remarks by saying
19 that the overall status of the agency's EEO Program 20 is good and on a path of steady improvement.

21 Dr. Travers discussed management
22 commitment and management accountability, two 23 elements that are a requisite foundation for a 24 viable EEO Program.

25 Ms. Norry discussed her personal role

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 for soliciting employee input on designing
2 strategies for improvement based on this input.

3 Employee input is a key element of any 4 progressive EEO program. I will highlight several 5 ongoing initiatives, the spokes in the wheel, if you
6 will, that help to make an EEO program run 7 smoothly.

8 If we are to have an EEO Program that 9 supports diversity in the work force, we must have 10 an effective recruitment program. And NRC's 11 recruitment program is easily characterized as a 12 best practice.

13 During FY 2002, our recruitment efforts 14 resulted in a total of 243 employees hired. Forty-15 seven of those employees, or 19 percent, were 16 African Americans. Nineteen, or eight percents, 17 were Asians. Thirty, or 12 percent, were Hispanics.
18 One was Native American. Fifty-five, or 23 percent, 19 were white females, and 91, or 37 percent, were 20 white males.

21 Our recruitment program works, and its 22 outcomes have consistently identified pools of 23 candidates that are highly qualified and highly 24 diverse.

25 Our cooperative education and summer

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 intern programs are useful pipelines to feed into 2 our interlevel recruiting efforts.

3 During fiscal year 2002, co-op program
4 participation increased from eight to 13, and this 5 included ten minorities and three white women.

6 A total of 80 students and faculty were 7 hired as summer interns. Thirty-two were minorities 8 and 48 were white.

9 We are working aggressively with 10 colleges and universities to increase student 11 participation in both the co-op and the summer 12 intern program.

13 A third spoke in this wheel is our 14 efforts to enhance employee retention. We are 15 emphasizing a number of mentoring initiatives, 16 including rotational assignments, coaching and 17 mentoring of employees to improve their potential 18 for career advancement.

19 During fiscal year 2002, my office
20 sponsored three mentoring training sessions. One 21 session was specifically designed for intern 22 employees and their supervisors. That session was 23 presented to the NRR interns.

24 A session is scheduled for November -- 25 that's starting tomorrow -- by the NMSS interns.

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 Also during fiscal year 2002, the number
2 of employees participating in formal mentoring 3 relationships increased from 98 to 151.

4 In conjunction with the Office of Human 5 Resources, we are renewing our efforts to assist 6 employees in preparing resumes, in preparing 7 individual development plans, and individual 8 training plans. We want to encourage employees to 9 focus on not only short-term, but also long-term 10 career development.

11 Providing appropriate training for 12 managers to develop and sharpen their management 13 skills is another spoke in the wheel of a viable EEO 14 program, and we are providing appropriate and up-to-15 date training for our managers.

16 The basic EEO course for managers and 17 supervisors has been revised and updated, and since 18 the beginning of the second quarter of fiscal year 19 2002, we have presented four sessions of that 20 training. Thirteen additional sessions have already 21 been scheduled for 2003.

22 This course provides information for 23 managers on current EEO laws, managing diversity, 24 and the EEO complaint process, including information 25 on our alternate dispute resolution process.

1 The Office of Human Resources has also 2 developed a course to assist managers in enhancing 3 their skills for providing feedback to employees.
4 Several sessions of this course have been presented, 5 and several sessions will be scheduled in the 6 future.

7 Appropriate and timely feedback to 8 employees is critical to employee development and 9 retention.

10 Our manager diversity initiative is 11 ongoing. The Office of Small Business and Civil 12 Rights has continued to provide office specific 13 follow-up to management diversity sessions. The 14 purpose of these sessions is to foster ongoing 15 dialogue between managers and staff.

16 The goal of managing diversity is to 17 create a positive work environment which encourages 18 and appreciates diverse employee perspectives and 19 minimizes the potential for conflict in the work 20 place.

21 Another element of a viable EEO Program
22 is implementing a process that effectively resolves
23 conflicts in the work place, and that's the EEO 24 complaint process, which includes mediation as an 25 alternate dispute resolution method.

1 My office, working with the Office of
2 Human Resources and the Office of General Counsel, 3 has facilitated increased use of the ADR process for 4 resolving allegations of discrimination quickly and 5 at the lowest possible level in the organization.
6 We are pleased with the impact of ADR on our 7 complaint activity.

8 I want to take a few minutes now to 9 briefly review for you our EEO complaint activity 10 since the beginning of fiscal year 2002. At the end 11 of fiscal year 2001, we had in our backlog five 12 informal EEO allegations and 21 formal EEO 13 complaints.

14 From the beginning of 2002 to date, 36 15 informal allegations and 17 formal complaints were 16 filed. During that same period, we closed 38 17 informal allegations and 18 formal complaints.

18 As of today, we have in our backlog
19 three informal allegations and 20 formal complaints.
20 Seven of the 20 formal complaints are pending 21 hearing or decision by an Administrative Judge at 22 the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Two of 23 the 20 complaints are pending mediation.

24 We are engaged in informal settlement
25 discussions on two others, and the remaining nine

1 complaints are at various stages in the process.

2 Of the 56 cases that we have closed 3 since the beginning of fiscal year 2002, 11 of these 4 cases were closed with settlement agreements.
5 That's a good statistic. Five of the 11 cases were 6 settled through the alternate dispute resolution 7 process.

8 With the cooperation of the Office of 9 Human Resources and the Office of General Counsel,
10 our case management, including the alternate dispute 11 resolution portion, has been effective.

12 And finally, another spoke in the wheel 13 of a viable EEO Program is understanding where the 14 challenges are and working to overcome them. We are 15 aware that there are many areas where improvement is 16 needed.

17 Dr. Travers alluded to the agency's 18 under representation of minorities in supervisory, 19 managerial, and SES positions.

20 Ms. Norry discussed some of the 21 strategies the agency is employing to address these 22 challenges.

23 I want to add two items to this list.
24 We have the challenge of assisting some of our long 25 time employees, especially minorities and older

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 employees, in taking on broader, more visible work 2 assignments and enhancing their careers within the 3 agency.

4 Secondly, we must take steps to 5 institutionalize the EEO strategies that have proven 6 to be successful, while at the same time focusing on 7 strategies to improve in those areas where 8 improvement is needed.

9 I am confident that we have the 10 wherewithal to continue our path of success. We 11 have the commitment of the leadership, and we have 12 an effective management tool in the SES sub-element 13 and supervisory sub-element in the performance 14 appraisals.

15 We have senior management involvement in 16 numerous ways, some of which have been discussed
17 this afternoon. We have employee and employee 18 groups systematically involved in identifying issues 19 and recommending strategies. We have several 20 progressive strategies in place, and we are 21 continuously looking for best practices to improve 22 what we do and the way we do it.

23 We continue to conduct self- assessments 24 and monitor our progress not only in these 25 semiannual briefings with you, but also in more

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.

1 informal ways.

2 As we work together toward our common
3 goal of equal employment opportunity for all, I
4 suggest we keep in mind that success is not measured 5 by a specific destination, but by the quality of our 6 day-to-day interactions with each other and the 7 decisions we make with regards to our mission.

8 I challenge each supervisor, manager, 9 and leader in this agency to model the behavior that 10 they would like to see in their own superiors, and I 11 am sure that behavior will demonstrate an 12 understanding of employee weaknesses and acceptance 13 of employee differences and an appreciation of the 14 contribution of all employees.

15 Thank you.

16 MS. NORRY: Thank you, Irene.

17 And now we'll hear from Sam Collins.

18 MR. COLLINS: Thank you, Pat.

19 Good afternoon, Commissioners, Chairman.
20 I'm pleased to be here to address the Commission on 21 the topic that's very important to the Office of 22 Nuclear Reactor Regulations.

23 I'd like to acknowledge the retirement 24 of Irene and Irene's guidance in the past, and we 25 will surely miss her. She's a voice in the

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 background of every meeting we have on human 2 resources as she gently reminds us of our priorities 3 and our goals.

4 And I wish you well in the future.

5 MS. LITTLE: Thank you.

6 MR. COLLINS: I'm here to present a
7 cautiously half-full story from the Office of NRR.
8 I think given our recent technical challenges that 9 we all wrestle with day to day, this is an 10 opportunity to reflect on a resource we have, the 11 wealth and the richness of our staff, and celebrate 12 successes while acknowledging challenges in that 13 area.

14 Clearly, the success of the agency is a 15 product of the staff. Our role is to provide access 16 for that, and that includes the initiatives in this 17 area of the topic today.

18 Since I last addressed the Commission in 19 1998, we in the Office of NRR have taken several new 20 activities underway and have enhanced those that we 21 believe have been successful in the past.

22 We do have challenges, however. In 23 today's job market, the ability to attract highly 24 qualified, experienced people is a challenge, 25 particularly in those areas where the expertise is

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 in demand with our stakeholders, including our 2 licensees.

3 We have tools available to us, however,
4 to address those challenges, and I believe we're 5 making some successes, although that will not be a 6 short-term effort.

7 We strongly encourage diversity training
8 as was mentioned by Irene. We have healthy debates 9 in the sessions with Barbara Williams, acknowledging 10 and defining what diversity is and what diversity is 11 not, but I think that those are constructive, and we 12 learn from those. And I look forward to those in 13 the future also.

14 We have a very active team in the Office 15 of Nuclear Reactor Regulations. Each of the 16 executive team members sponsors one or more EEO 17 Advisory Committees. They're very active in the 18 interview and recruitment job, and we are dedicated 19 to the processes in the Office of NRR being 20 successful to achieve our goals.

21 Some of the specifics in the Office of 22 NRR is we have approximately 580 full-time 23 employees. Twenty-eight percent of those are 24 minorities. Fifteen percent are other than white 25 females, and our work force by race and ethnicity

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 and gender is captured in a table. That's the 2 talking point paper that's provided today. I won't 3 go over that in detail.

4 It's important to note that since fiscal 5 year 2000, NRR has increased our representation in 6 all minority groups. Specifically the Asian-Pacific 7 Americans are now at 16 percent level, the highest 8 in the agency, and our Hispanic recruitment has 9 nearly doubled, acknowledging the efforts of Luis 10 Reyes and others to provide a forum for that to take 11 place.

12 I'd like to speak briefly of the 13 challenges. Increasing the representation of women, 14 particularly in the higher level positions;
15 continuing our progress with the Hispanic community; 16 establishing sustained progress with the African 17 American community; and initiating an entry level
18 pipeline for the Asian-Pacific group.

19 We're competing with others for specific 20 technical expertise, as I mentioned. We had some 21 recent challenges in the area of materials, where we 22 were not able to achieve our goals in recruiting in 23 that area, and I think that's a good example where 24 we have to be more inventive, if you will, or more 25 aggressive in pursuing that expertise.

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 Irene mentioned the ADR and EEO
2 complaint resolution process. We are completely
3 dedicated to that. We have to maintain a balance 4 between individual rights in the process and the 5 ability to manage the organization. That's always a 6 tension, and I think it's a healthy tension, that we 7 work with day to day.

8 As Barbara would indicate, the handling 9 of DPOs and DPVs is also an indication, if you will, 10 of diversity in the form of diverse opinions, and 11 through Bill's efforts, we have performed a review 12 of that process, and I believe that we are making 13 progress in that area, too.

14 We received five DPVs in the Office of 15 Nuclear Reactor Regulations in fiscal year '02.

16 Lastly, the challenge is defining 17 success, and as Irene mentioned, there are various 18 ways to measure, if you will, our progress and 19 success in these areas, and I align with Irene's 20 talk that we're on a path and we'll be on that path 21 for as long as we're here managing the organization.

22 We can define success, however, in terms
23 of relative comparisons in many ways, and I believe 24 right now the Office of NRR, in concert with the 25 strategic plan, is measuring ourselves and the

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 operating plan against the group statistics within 2 the NRC.

3 And currently we're comparing ourselves
4 with the group statistics in Montgomery County just 5 to be sure that we have balance in those areas.

6 There are areas in the strategic plan
7 that cascade through the corporate strategies area, 8 that move through the operating plan for the office 9 due to various measures in the Office of NRR. That 10 includes retention; it includes recruitment; and it 11 includes comparing ourselves on the office level 12 with the agency goals.

13 And I'm looking into the specifics in 14 the area of hiring policies and practices. Our 15 managers and technical staff have continued to 16 aggressively recruit highly qualified women and 17 minorities. Examples of that would be recruiting in 18 a number of universities.

19 The University of Puerto Rico is an 20 example. We recently returned. Marcia Gambrione 21 was there representing the office. We made seven 22 offers at the University of Puerto Rico, two 23 mechanical engineers, three electrical, and two 24 civil engineers.

25 Florida A&M University, we have visited

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 that university in concert with sponsorship from 2 Region II; North Carolina A&T; and Penn State.

3 Twenty-two of our managers and staff
4 have participated in recruitment events to date.

5 We have attended professional minority 6 conferences and planned events, and 38 managers in 7 the Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation have 8 participated in those activities. And as I 9 mentioned, our executive team has participated in 10 numerous of those trips.

11 One of our flagship programs is the NRR 12 intern program, and I think we have some of our 13 interns here today. Interns bring not only 14 diversity into our program, but they bring a form of 15 energy which is very, very stimulating, and that 16 cascades all the way through the organization.

17 We are very pleased and very proud of 18 our intern program, and I look for the continued 19 success of those individuals, and if we point to the 20 rising levels in the organization of NRR today, 21 including the leadership potential program and those 22 development programs, we can point to a number of 23 those candidates who have had the benefit of 24 initiating their careers through the intern program.
25 It's a key tool in producing a highly qualified,

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

(202) 234-4433

(202) 234-4433

1 diverse work force, and it continues to be an 2 effective recruitment incentive for graduates and 3 students.

4 I'd like to acknowledge at this time
5 also the participation of two of our staff members, 6 Kim Jones and Bonita Cook in tracking the intern 7 program and working with the Office of HR in 8 defining the goals and the strategies for the 9 intern, including the intern training program.

10 Since fiscal year 2001, the NRR internal 11 program restart, we calibrate ourselves, benchmark 12 at that year. We've hired 29 interns. We have 13 eight in the class of 2003 and 21 in the class of 14 2004, which are graduating years, of which 34
15 percent are white males, 41 percent are Hispanic, 17 16 percent are African Americans, and seven percent are 17 white females.

18 We did a quick run-through on the 19 retention of interns, and I thank Mike Case and his 20 staff for doing that on my way down here, and we 21 have about a 50 percent acceptance rate for the 22 hiring of interns, and approximately two thirds of 23 those interns stay with us after the first five to 24 seven years, which is when they complete the intern 25 program and complete the orientation and go into the

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 full performance level.

2 So it is a very successful program, and 3 by carefully managing the recruitment in that area, 4 we appear to be retaining the individuals and their 5 expertise.

6 And our summer hire program is another 7 area that we look at in a cascading way. We look at 8 the summer hire program as a feeder pool for the 9 intern program. The ability to retain co-op
10 students in the summer hire program captures, if you 11 will, individuals within the walls. It introduces 12 them to our programs. It creates an excitement for 13 them and the ability to demonstrate their 14 capabilities.

15 It also provides us an insight into the 16 origin of these individuals as far as which 17 university or which entity they arrive from, and end 18 up with a dialogue with those schools, and we end up 19 taking advantage of their programs.

20 We have recently hired a co-op student 21 from the University of Maryland who is going to be 22 helping us with our Quality Management Program, 23 which is a cutting edge program at the University of 24 Maryland, and she will be introducing those programs 25 to us and using us as a case study. So we have that

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 type of synergism.

2 During fiscal year 2002, NRR hired 11
3 students from various colleges and universities, and 4 the demographic mix of the 2002 summer hires include 5 45 percent white males, 18 percent white females, 18 6 percent Asian-Pacific Americans, 18 percent African 7 Americans, and two former summer hires who are now 8 interns.

9 So we're achieving with some history the 10 balance between the types of groups that we would 11 like to target, as well as providing for the 12 expertise that we need to move forward as a 13 continuing learning type of organization.

14 We like to bridge opportunities through 15 upward mobility, and what the Upward Mobility 16 Program does is to afford us to introduce existing 17 staff to new and different types of challenges, and 18 specifically provide for the transition from the 19 clerical field to the administrative positions.

20 We have a number of highly talented 21 individuals in those areas, and there are levels and 22 blocks within the organizational structure which 23 without these bridge opportunities would create 24 artificial caps in those individuals' ability to 25 participate and to contribute to the success of the

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.

1 organization.

2 Areas of budget planning, human 3 resources, work planning are all opportunities for 4 individuals to transition from the clerical field to 5 the administrative positions, and some of the tools 6 we're using are the posting of licensing assistant 7 positions as career ladder positions starting at the 8 GG-7 level and also providing for upward mobility 9 types of positions.

10 In the area of minority and women's 11 representation in supervisory and management ranks, 12 that area has been mentioned previously by the 13 speakers as a challenge for us. It continues to be.
14 However, we do have some successes of note.

15 Since 1998, minority women
16 representation in the supervisory and management 17 ranks has increased from 14 percent to 27 percent.
18 The most significant increase in this area was in 19 the Asian-Pacific American group, which increased 20 from four to seven individuals.

21 Despite these successes, this area
22 remains a significant challenge for us. It's a 23 focus area for the leadership potential program and 24 the SES candidate development programs, as was 25 mentioned by Pat, and it will be a focus in the

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.

1 future.

2 And also six minorities were promoted to 3 section chief positions during this period. So also 4 we're making progress in the initial first level 5 supervisory ranks, which is the feeder group for the 6 SES candidate development program.

7 Pat mentioned the rotational
8 assignments, and I thank her for that. We're 9 encouraging staff to participate in career 10 developmental rotations.

11 We receive feedback from the staff as a 12 result of a poll of the staff of the inability of 13 the staff to achieve rotations because of the 14 tension with getting work done.

15 We believe that working with the levels 16 of the organization that that's more or less of an 17 artificial constraint; that by funding rotations, 18 which we have done at the benefit of input from the 19 leadership team, we have created one FTE within each 20 division, and that FTE is not filled. That FTE is 21 there for the purposes of providing for a rotation 22 within that division.

23 So we manage the work on the basis that 24 we'll always have one vacancy, and that vacancy will 25 allow someone to be somewhere else within the

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 organization or with the NRC, providing for 2 developmental opportunities.

3 In fiscal year 2002, more than ten
4 percent of the NRR staff participated in rotational
5 assignments. That's quite a number of staff plugged 6 in and applied at any specific time.

7 However, experience is that there are 8 benefits to that, and you actually derive work and a 9 greater level and a greater quality of work as a 10 result of people being stimulated by rotations and 11 being exposed to different types of work, and that 12 allows them also to apply for different work that 13 they've had experience, too.

14 We have found that by tracking rotations
15 formally and creating a standard form that people 16 can apply that has to be articulated, that the 17 benefits have to be described, that supervisory and 18 management people have to sign off to; we create a 19 process by which rotations are possible. They're 20 tracked, and we can track the benefit of that.

21 The mentoring program was noted. I have 22 the benefit of mentoring two individuals who are 23 currently in the SES candidate development program.
24 Again, that's a very rewarding experience for me. I 25 have insights into the levels of the organization

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 that way.

2 We also have the ability to support the 3 candidate development program and to steer 4 individuals through their decision makings in their 5 careers.

6 One of my personal experiences is that 7 the greatest value that we have here is developing 8 people and watching them rise through the 9 organization and contribute to the organization and 10 become the future leaders and become the 11 contributors at any level in the organization that 12 makes successful.

13 The agency's mentoring program has been 14 incorporated as a key component of the NRR intern 15 program. I've introduced two sessions of that, and 16 the contractor that we have hired to provide that 17 service does a very good job, and I thank the Office 18 of Small Business and Civil Rights for providing 19 that service.

20 Almost every NRR SES manager has 21 participated as a mentor for the NRR program, and 22 I'd be remiss if I didn't mention Tad Marsh, who is 23 the father, so to speak, of the current intern 24 program, and if you were to go to his office, you 25 would see a plaque that has been hung, and it's

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 called "Tad, the Dad," because Tad ends up mentoring 2 many of our young people who come into the 3 organization who are in Washington for the first 4 time and may or may not be away from their families
5 in the educational structure, and there's more to it 6 than just work.

7 And I thank Tad and his team for 8 contributing to those, even to the basics of finding 9 where to shop and how to shop in transportation and 10 where to live and some of those basic essentials to 11 make the intern program successful.

12 The Flexiplace Program is part of our 13 support for providing for a work place as desirable
14 and for the retention of our individuals. NRR 15 considers ourselves a leader in that program. We 16 have over 400 employees who are eligible to 17 participate in that program in coordination with HR
18 and LMPC.

19 And I'd also like to acknowledge the 20 benefit of coordinating with our union partners in 21 these programs. We've developed guidance to help 22 supervisors for expanded participation in this 23 program.

24 Currently 53 employees, approximately 25 ten percent of our staff, participate in this

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 program, including project based Flexiplace option
2 for supervisors and others who have specific work 3 tasks.

4 Let me talk just briefly about 5 retention. I had the opportunity this afternoon to 6 give 35 year pins to Mary King and Pam Faust, two 7 longstanding employees and contributors to our 8 program. While at the same time I gave a retirement 9 plaque to Sing Bajwa, who's retiring after 34 years.

10 So that demonstrates our ability to 11 retain individuals. A 34, 35 year retention in 12 career within the NRC, I believe, is something to be 13 proud of.

14 Our attrition is a little over what we 15 budgeted. We track that through our operating plan.
16 We're about 15 percent above where we were. Those 17 numbers are about 60. We estimated about 52. We 18 estimate losing about two people per pay period, and 19 we're a little bit above that.

20 Diversity awareness. We work closely 21 with Small Business and Civil Rights vigorously to 22 manage and providing for diversity sessions for our 23 staff. The majority of NRR staff will have been in 24 the training sessions by completion of the next 25 session in early November, and we believe that's a

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 good way to enhance staff awareness and encourage 2 commitment to aid and maintain a positive work
3 environment in NRR.

4 Our executive team initiatives include,
5 as I mentioned, points of contacts for the EEO 6 Advisory Committees, meeting on a regular basis with 7 those Advisory Committees, providing for the focus 8 for recruitment, and a very powerful tool that we've 9 worked out with Lynn Carlson and others on the 10 ability to hire at the recruitment center.

11 That takes some coordination. We 12 believe a new recruitment tool and the tool that we 13 have to provide for individuals to apply on line 14 aids in that process. There are some barriers we're 15 working through, as with any new process, but 16 clearly it's an improvement, and our ability to hire 17 on the spot is a very powerful tool as it's proving 18 out.

19 This approach has resulted in 20 significant improved communication, both internally 21 and with the committees and with our hirees. We 22 have a recent example of an outreach program to a 23 historically black college and university. That's 24 the Howard University, and we have sponsored a 25 science and engineering facility open house for

NEAL R. GROSS

1 them, and that's to take place tomorrow, November 2 1st, and Brian Sheron is the sponsor for that.

3 Briefly, in communications we mentioned
4 the performance appraisals. We mentioned feedback
5 on selections for positions within the agency.
6 Interview skills, our tool to be used in that 7 regard. The quality of application packages is a 8 continual area of focus for us.

9 Feedback on performance at the midyear
10 and at the final appraisals is a continual challenge 11 for us.

12 Inviting employees to participate in 13 discussions on performance expectations is important 14 and reconciling those expectations in a "go forward" 15 sense to insure that we're aligned on providing 16 skill, will, and access to our employees.

17 Access is management's role. Skill is 18 providing the right position, and will is the 19 employee's bringing the will to provide for the job 20 being done successfully.

21 The first of those is access, and that's 22 insuring that any individual is being provided the 23 opportunity to be successful, and that's the 24 challenge that we have through our levels of 25 management and supervisory organizations.

1 Our NRR initiative activities to improve 2 communications include the weekly newsletter that's 3 being provided to our employees. We electronically 4 transmit that to all of our staff.

5 We have electronic message boards on our 6 floors. We continually change those messages to 7 celebrate successes.

8 We have organized retreats at various 9 levels throughout the organization, and we have the 10 all supervisors meetings on an ad hoc basis.

11 We are also providing for panel 12 discussions for our interns. We're having one of 13 those in the short term on the Davis-Besse area in 14 November 15th, and that includes the lessons 15 learned task force, and Ed Hackett is going to 16 provide support for that.

17 Lastly, let me just acknowledge that we 18 take this seriously. We hold ourselves accountable.
19 That was mentioned in the discussion.

20 We do have tracking that links back to 21 the operating plans and to the strategic plan. We 22 have other standard conditions that we monitor and 23 that we analyze in the Office of NRR, and we're very 24 serious about the retention of our very valued, 25 experienced individuals. That is an untapped

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.

1 resource for training and mentoring that we're 2 approaching in order to provide for the transition
3 for work experience and the ability to provide for a 4 broad view of the goals throughout the agency to our 5 new employees.

6 We track hiring. We track
7 accomplishments. We do that quarterly, and we have 8 amended the section chief appraisals, some in 2002, 9 but all in 2003.

10 As Pat mentioned, element number one
11 tracks EEO and diversity initiatives, and clearly 12 the SES appraisals were revised last year to provide 13 for that, and the Performance Review Board tracks 14 accountability for that.

15 In conclusion and in summary, let me
16 acknowledge that I have noted many challenges in 17 these areas, but I would like to also be able to 18 celebrate the successes. We're very proud of our 19 staff. We're proud of what our staff has 20 accomplished, and we know that with this staff in 21 the future, we'll continue to serve the goals of the 22 strategic plan in the Office of the NRC 23 appropriately.

24 And we look forward to those challenges
25 and working with Irene and her staff in moving

1 forward as an organization.

2 Thank you.

3 MR. TRAVERS: Thanks, Sam.

4 Mr. Chairman, that completes our 5 briefing this afternoon.

6 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: I'd like to thank you
7 all for a very helpful briefing.

8 In recognition of the fact that some of 9 my colleagues may have to depart, let me turn to 10 Commissioner Dicus first and then go to Commissioner 11 Merrifield so that they will have a chance to ask a 12 few questions before they have to leave.

13 COMMISSIONER DICUS: Okay. Last year,
14 Ms. Little, I had asked you about the diversity 15 contractor that we had brought on board to help with 16 the issue, and I noted in my comment that that 17 person or the contractor had been acquired rather 18 recently, and perhaps you have not had an idea to 19 talk about what had been accomplished.

20 But I warned you I'd probably ask again
21 in six months. So it's six months down the line.
22 So how is that working and what are you doing?

23 And particularly, you might want to 24 address with me if there's information to share on 25 this issue of out-sourcing and how this may affect

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 our diversity and whether this is part of what this 2 person is looking at of people.

3 MS. LITTLE: The diversity contractor
4 was also hired a few months ago, probably right 5 after or right before the last briefing.

6 COMMISSIONER DICUS: I think it was just 7 before.

8 MS. LITTLE: Just before the last
9 briefing, and they're working directly with NMSS,
10 and I think that if we were to talk to the employees 11 in NMSS, we would hear a real success story.

12 It is still too soon to evaluate what 13 the outcome will be because there's an ongoing type 14 initiative. I'm going to turn to Barbara in just a 15 second because she works closely with the diversity 16 contractor, but there is a basic diversity panel, 17 and they work through issues in NMSS, and I know 18 that they've had several sessions.

19 Barbara, is there anything else I should 20 add to that?

21 MS. WILLIAMS: You can add a little bit 22 to that, Marty, if you have a problem. You can.

23 They do have a diversity panel, and that 24 panel was in place for about a year, and new members 25 have come on now, going into the second part of the

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 year, and that panels tries to address a lot of 2 issues that employees bring to their table as it 3 relates to operating procedures within the Office of 4 Relations and Communications.

5 They have worked on mission and value
6 statements, and they have come up with some new 7 phase to address in that area. I know they've 8 worked on communication plans, and I think at the 9 last retreat recently at NMSS, that was presented to 10 the leadership team and executive team.

11 So they are working on quite a few 12 things, and the feedback that we've gotten from 13 employees that employees feel much better about the 14 overall environment within NMSS.

15 Marty, do you want to? Does that kind 16 of cover it?

17 So we will continue, and we will be 18 giving some progress with that so that hopefully 19 other offices can pattern themselves after and 20 possibly address some of their office specific 21 diversity needs as well.

22 COMMISSIONER DICUS: Okay. Thank you.

23 MS. LITTLE: Let me just add that 24 they're not looking at the out-sourcing issue. That 25 is something that is more centrally controlled.

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 That is not one of the things they're looking at.

2 COMMISSIONER DICUS: Okay. Thank you.

3 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Commissioner
4 Merrifield.

5 COMMISSIONER MERRIFIELD: Thank you, Mr.
6 Chairman, and I regret I will be having to leave 7 after this, and I apologize. I had a previous 8 commitment that has taken me away from that, but I 9 don't want anyone to think that lessens the 10 commitment I have for continued progress in this 11 regard.

12 I actually, given the time, I actually 13 have three comments I want to make rather than 14 putting them in the form of questions, although if 15 people want to respond, they can.

16 I noted the comments that Sam Collins
17 made about the glass being half full and not half 18 empty, and I agree with that sentiment. I think 19 looking at the materials we were provided today, I 20 think one might characterize it as forward progress 21 that is somewhat uneven.

22 The one comment I want to make, as was 23 pointed out today, we have not made the progress in 24 the pipeline as it relates to the SES candidate 25 development program that I think all of us might

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 have wanted a year or two ago, but I think the 2 positive aspect that has been underlying today is 3 the significant forward momentum as it relates to 4 the leadership potential program.

5 And I think my comment on this is that 6 that group was, indeed, very diverse. I think it's 7 positive that we're placing those individuals in 8 positions where they may acquire additional 9 leadership positions and may hopefully be selected 10 for the next round of our SES candidate development 11 program.

12 And I think to the extent that we can 13 continue to nurture those individuals in a follow-up 14 group, in a follow-up leadership potential program, 15 we will, indeed, get where we need to be on a 16 pipeline for future SES candidate development 17 program rounds.

18 The second comment I would make would be 19 relative to NER. As many know, that has been a pet 20 favorite of mine. I want to recognize the 21 significant progress that's been made on that. It 22 really does seem to be the win-win that Irene has 23 spoken about, and so I appreciate the strong 24 commitment that you and the folks in the Office of 25 Small Business have made in that area.

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 The final comment I would want to make - 2 - and I was amused by the comment that Irene made 3 about employee retention, where we seem to be making 4 significant progress, except when it comes to Irene 5 -- and so I do want to, although we will have many 6 opportunities over the course of the next two months 7 to tell you how much we will miss you, I would not 8 want to miss the opportunity to recognize here the 9 significant accomplishments you've made in the 10 position.

11 And you certainly are the driving force 12 for much of the progress we have made over the 13 years, and hopefully you have put in place a program 14 that will continue as a legacy.

15 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: Well, I probably 16 have a couple of comments. First, I noticed that 17 there are two competing things in here that 18 everybody mentioned one was the issue of challenges, 19 and the other is the measure of success. And I 20 would just like to state that finding a good 21 challenge is a mini-success, retiring it as a 22 challenge is full success. That's certainly a way 23 of doing it.

24 In that vein, I think I would like to 25 issue a challenge, how can we keep Irene from

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 retiring?

2 (Laughter.)

3 PARTICIPANT: We're working on it.

4 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: I do want to tell
5 you that personally I appreciate your work and I 6 think we will miss you, and we want to try to see 7 how we can find an EEO rule to keep you here.
8 You've been very good.

9 I think we all agree, and I'm not 10 speaking for everybody, but I do want to make the 11 statement that there's been significant progress in 12 many areas since I joined the Commission. And I 13 think we also, all of us, have begun to really 14 realize the importance of diversity within 15 diversity. And that's an important issue because 16 diversity by itself doesn't tell you all that you 17 want to know, the diversity within the diversity, 18 that actually allows you to focus on what other 19 challenges that can be retired and those that 20 remain.

21 Many of these activities in EEO we can 22 overlook some groups, but we need to make sure that 23 they're all considered, because the diversity, we 24 think that diversity is important. And although 25 emphasize many times those areas that have been of

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 need, and I realize tremendous effort was put into 2 the hiding of Hispanic, which was really a bad-3 looking area in our statistics, we also want to 4 emphasize that we need to look at everybody, because 5 that diversity within diversity is what makes us 6 strong, what makes our fabric looking very, very 7 complete.

8 We need to also try to when we hire, 9 which has been a major improvement, we need to keep 10 hiring the best people we can find. Highly 11 competent people will solve the issues down the pike 12 on the SESs. When we hire the best people that we 13 can find, trying very hard for it, it would actually 14 make those longer efforts to create managers and 15 SESs easier. And so I want to emphasize that 16 effort.

17 Having said that, this is -- I always 18 like to come with some questions. Let's see, when 19 you're talking about retaining employees, and it's 20 an issue that is extremely important to us, I 21 noticed that the number of employees participating 22 in mentoring increased, you said, from 98 to 151.
23 That's a tremendous change. What does this do and 24 can we have -- have we considered that challenge as 25 something that we're going to do better or we came

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 up and it's level? What do you attribute the 2 significant improvement in the mentoring?

3 MS. LITTLE: I think for lack of a 4 better term the marketing of the program. We've 5 been talking a lot about mentoring. We've been 6 encouraging it, and we're conducting mentoring
7 sessions. So employees are a lot more aware of it.
8 Additionally, I meet with all new employees during 9 orientation, and I encourage them very strongly to 10 get a mentor. I do it by asking their supervisor or 11 coming to my office and meeting with Barbara 12 Williams who coordinates the Facilitated Mentoring 13 Program. And we have been getting a lot more 14 business from employees to get mentors.

15 I think a mentor can do a couple of 16 things, and I say this to employees. A mentor can 17 help a new employee avoid making new employee 18 mistakes by guiding them early on. And a mentor can 19 assist a new employee in new looking at career 20 opportunities early so that by the time they're 21 ready to make a career move they have checked all 22 the boxes and the preparation is in place. So I 23 think we can attribute the numbers a little bit to 24 the way we're talking about the program.

25 We do not have a successful mechanism

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 for measuring the progress of how many people have 2 mentors and how many are pleased with the outcome of 3 that. We're working to get a contract to do that.
4 We've talked of that.

5 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: Sam, I believe you 6 mentioned some time ago in another meeting that we 7 had that an effort is being made to not only mentor 8 but to try to put the experiences of those of all 9 who have been in this business for years and are 10 approaching 50 now into those who are just beginning 11 and really might have to carry on the torches. Is 12 that something that has begun problematically or 13 it's just in the areas you're dealing with?

14 MR. COLLINS: It's a result of two 15 efforts, really: One is the roles and 16 responsibilities effort, and the other is how do we 17 take advantage of the human capital that currently 18 exists.

19 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: Right.

20 MR. COLLINS: The Committee on Age
21 Discrimination has talked to us about this for 22 periods of time. They would like to play an active 23 role in transferring information and technology and 24 life experience. And with the Intern Program coming 25 in, we hope to be able to match those two up. It's

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 a part of mentoring but it's really technical 2 expertise and job experience that we're looking for.

3 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: Right, right.
4 That's what I was trying to -- is the kind of the 5 higher --

6 MR. BIRD: If I could add to that, we 7 recently had a session involving Sam Walker for all 8 the interns, open to all the interns, to really 9 recount TMI. As you know, there was a recent 10 documentary on TMI, and certainly Sam Walker who was 11 here throughout that period has a perspective on it 12 that was different than some of the presentation in 13 the documentary, and I think that was a successful 14 session organized by my staff but for a broader 15 audience. And I think those things are very, very 16 useful.

17 MR. COLLINS: The second effort that the 18 Rules and Responsibilities Commissioner has brought 19 to light to us the fact that we have seen 20 individuals who are supervisors and senior 21 individuals who provide for a technical role, same 22 grade. So what we're trying to do is define those 23 roles so that they're complementary, not duplicative
24 and not overly burdensome. And one of those roles 25 for the senior technical staff is providing for

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 coaching and mentoring in their technical field
2 where the supervisor would provide for a different 3 type of coaching and mentoring, and those would be 4 complementary roles.

5 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: Good. Thank you.
6 Irene, the African-American Advisory Committee has 7 been commenting that the Commission should develop 8 more effective metrics for demographic information
9 to go to the effectiveness of the EEO programs, 10 diversity management and everything else. Would you 11 please address the extent to which we might be able 12 to spend metrics? Is that something that you're 13 working on, is that something that you see feasible 14 in a reasonable period of time to be able to get 15 better metrics on the effectiveness of this program?

16 MS. LITTLE: I think the most effective 17 general method that we could come up with would be a 18 survey tool, and one of the things we're looking at 19 doing we looked at some of the information that came 20 out of the IG cultural survey some time ago, and 21 we're looking forward to doing a comparison there.
22 Trying to measure EEO success by counting numbers
23 only gets us half there. We, of course, can count 24 EEO complaints, we can count the number of people 25 hired, but I think some of the things I talked about

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 today we've got to factor into it, the qualitative 2 things, do employees feel that they can talk to 3 their management about any issue that comes up, do 4 they feel that they're valued? I think we have to 5 factor those in as well.

6 There is not a big effort on our part 7 right now to increase the metrics. I think that in 8 our own operating plans and in the operating plans 9 of the offices there is a variety of methods being 10 used by different offices, and while we can look at 11 those, I think that's adequate. I think the 12 outcomes are what we're looking at. If we have a 13 diverse work force and people feel pretty good about 14 what we do, which we can pick up in the survey, 15 that's a measure of our success in this program.

16 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: Well, I understand,
17 but I think they are concerned whether the metrics 18 are complete or not, and maybe that deserves to have 19 a second look at it.

20 MS. LITTLE: Maybe that's something we 21 should look at.

22 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: Right, right. And 23 there's a concern about that. Now, Commissioner 24 Merrifield already referred to the SES, and that's 25 one thing that we have already seen. I don't want

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 to forget another sector of our employees, those who 2 are not in SES programs, who are the managers and 3 supervisors. Are we doing similar types of reviews 4 on how these issues are being addressed and how the 5 reviews that people are getting from them are being 6 addressed? You know, it's a totally different 7 track, not SES's.

8 MS. LITTLE: Our movement into 9 supervisory positions?

10 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: Right, right.
11 Movement into management and supervisory positions.

12 MS. LITTLE: We do track that. We have 13 training data. We have five-year training data on 14 every aspect of an EEO program that you can think of 15 on the work force. We include that.

16 COMMISSIONER DIAZ: How are we doing 17 diversity-wise?

18 MS. LITTLE: It's a mixed bag. If you
19 look at the training data right now for the past 20 five years, supervisors and managers, you can see 21 that the Asian employees who have had a real 22 challenge in the past have improved a little bit.
23 But last year we lost three African-American -- the 24 members of African-Americans in supervision is down 25 by three. So it's kind of a mixed bag.

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 MS. NORRY: The other aspect that 2 applies, I believe, to your question is that when we 3 mentioned that SES were being trained and were being 4 accounted, had been held accountable for results,
5 that is not just SES, that goes down the supervisory 6 ranks in terms of EEO elements, yes.

7 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Thank you, Mr.
8 Chairman. Mr. McGaffigan.

9 COMMISSIONER MCGAFFIGAN: Thank you, Mr.
10 Chairman. I join very briefly in wishing Irene 11 well. My understanding is you're not planning to 12 stay in the area, is that right?

13 MS. LITTLE: I didn't intend to make 14 this forum to discuss it. I am going to be in the 15 area a while.

16 COMMISSIONER MCGAFFIGAN: Okay. We wish 17 you well.

18 MS. LITTLE: Thank you.

19 COMMISSIONER MCGAFFIGAN: I'm not going 20 to spend very long because the annual Halloween 21 traffic jam is probably forming on Rockville Pike as 22 we talk here, but I do want to comment that I was 23 clueless at the outcome of the last meeting that we 24 managed to get the Center for Nuclear Waste 25 Regulatory Analysis into the Historically Black

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 College and University Grant Program. I read the 2 other part of the June 30 email with regard to the 3 Adarand decision. I am not a lawyer. I'll only 4 note, and basically the staff's bottom line was that 5 they didn't think that it was time to recommend that 6 we seek legislative authority for funds to program
7 Hispanic-serving institutions.

8 My recollection, which may be bad, is 9 that in the energy bill, which may or may not emerge
10 from this Congress, there was on the Senate side
11 that encouraged the Department of Energy to work 12 with Hispanic-serving institutions in some sort of 13 way, maybe not passed the Adarand test, if I'm 14 pronouncing that right, but if that provision 15 emerges on the energy bill, I'll probably come back 16 at you again saying, well, Congress is willing to 17 pass these provisions, maybe we should try again.
18 When you have two SES managers who are Hispanic and 19 relatively few people in the civilized positions, I 20 know we're recruiting now, but I think it's pretty 21 clear that it may not be discrimination but the 22 Hispanics are underserved in government and 23 scientific and technical positions, not just at NRC.

24 And so I am not a lawyer, I have not a 25 clue what the Supreme Court decided in Adarand other

COURT REPORTERS AND TRANSCRIBERS

1 than it is obviously is an impediment to what the 2 DOD that exists today which the note says is under 3 court review and probably this DOE program if it's 4 created by the energy bill will be instantaneously 5 under court review. But, I don't know, we have to 6 obey the law, and the Supreme Court is the Supreme 7 Court, so if there isn't a way around it, I'll --

8 MS. CYR: We'll look at the legislation 9 and certainly if that passes, we'll look and see 10 what the basis was and findings that were made with 11 respect to that legislation and see if there an 12 opportunity for some of the background there to be 13 useful to us.

14 COMMISSIONER MCGAFFIGAN: Thank you.
15 That's all, Mr. Chairman.

16 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Thank you. I just 17 have few questions. I wanted to pursue the point 18 that Commissioner Diaz raised about there are other 19 metrics, and there's one that goes into your 20 tracking that you didn't mention. You did have some 21 data about complaints and your progress on that, 22 which I suppose within an ideal world we'd never 23 have any complaints, but we're never going to get -- 24 presumably, human nature being what it is, there 25 will be misunderstandings of some. We're always

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.

1 going to have some but I guess it sounds like we get 2 about 50 a year in the last year that are either
3 dispositioned ultimately as formal or informal. Do 4 you have any sense of how, number one, what is the 5 significance of the number of the complaints, and, 6 secondly, how are we doing as compared with other 7 agencies in terms of compared with the complaints 8 for hired employees or what have you and what are 9 the trends?

10 MS. LITTLE: Yes, we do. We report on 11 our complaints the number of complaints and the 12 number of resolutions and the ages of the complaints 13 to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. And 14 we are on the very lowest tier with numbers of 15 complaints. There are two ways to get EEOC traffic, 16 the larger agencies and the smaller agencies. And I
17 believe the small agencies are agencies with 5,000
18 employees or fewer. We are in the very lower group 19 of the number of complaints per 100 hundred 20 employees or 1,000 employees or whatever. The 21 numbers are very low. I don't have that particular 22 data here, but we can get that and certainly share 23 that with you, some very specific data.

24 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: I was just trying to 25 calibrate myself with regard to the information you

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 provided us as to what we should draw from it.

2 MS. LITTLE: There are a few things that 3 are really important. The money complaints we look 4 at, yes. The number of former complaints is the 5 more important piece because any former complaints
6 are generally resolved before they get into a court 7 or hearing arena. And of course we look at the 8 number that we can resolve through ADR and the 9 number of complaints that are closed without costing 10 the agency any settlement costs, whether it's 11 monetary or non-monetary. And those statistics are 12 very good. We closed 56 complaints and only 11 of 13 them were settlement agreements. That's a very good 14 statistic, but we certainly can provide you with 15 some more specifics on how we compare Monday to 16 Monday without the agencies by our sides.

17 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: I had only one other 18 question and it was for Sam. In your presentation, 19 you indicated that the petition I guess in '02 was 20 larger than expected, that you expected or planned 21 for 52 and you had 60. Is there any -- is that a 22 trend we should be worrying about, is that -- what 23 conclusion should we draw from that, and do you have 24 any explanation for why the numbers are bigger than 25 expected?

NEAL R. GROSS

1 MR. COLLINS: I think HR does exit
2 interviews with the individuals. I'll let Paul
3 speak if he sees any specific trends. It's been a 4 year of a lot of coming and going between the 5 formulation of NSR and there is a lot of attrition 6 within the NRC as far as people moving back and 7 forth.

8 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Well, some of that 9 attrition is moving within NRC.

10 MR. COLLINS: That number, I think -- 11 yes.

12 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Okay. So that --

13 MR. COLLINS: Well, I'm not sure. It
14 is, Mike? I know we cut it both ways but I forgot 15 which one was which.

16 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Our external 17 attrition now has been about the same as it was in 18 previous years, around five percent. Our attrition 19 internal to the Agency about doubled in this year.

20 MR. COLLINS: And it's mostly because of 21 the formulation of new groups and our ability and 22 willingness to trade with offices' resources.

23 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: So the number of 60
24 being bigger than 52 includes the internal movement 25 of people.

1 MR. COLLINS: That's correct.

2 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Okay. Thank you.

3 Well, thank you very much. Before we close out the 4 meeting, we do have representatives from the various 5 advisory groups are here, and I would like to 6 provide them with an opportunity to make statements 7 to us if they choose to do so. Mr. Bhachu, you're 8 at the table, would you like to speak now on behalf 9 of the Asian-Pacific American Advisory Committee?

10 MR. BHACHU: Greetings, ladies and 11 gentlemen. Thank you for the opportunity to brief
12 you on APAAC concerns and recommendations to address 13 those concerns. We welcome the recent selection of 14 Asian-Americans in the NRC Leadership Retention
15 Program and the 2002 Executive Leadership Program.
16 We believe these are positive steps and will serve 17 to increase the presentation of Asian-Americans into 18 supervisory and management positions.

19 During the early part of this year,
20 Asian-Americans felt they were not receiving fair 21 attention in entry level hiring and upward mobility 22 in the corporate structure. These concerns were 23 made known at the last Equal Employment Opportunity 24 briefing. Since the last meeting, Asian-Americans 25 have actively engaged in meeting with the EEO office

1 Leadership Team Program offices, Office of Small 2 Business and Civil Rights and Human Resources and 3 other employee groups. The discussion in these 4 meetings focused on strategies for targeted 5 recruitment and enhancement of upward mobility for 6 Asian-Americans and other minorities. These 7 meetings proved to be fruitful and beneficial in 8 reaching a common ground.

9 We have actively supported target 10 recruitment efforts at selected universities. The 11 most recent initiative is the University of 12 California-Berkeley, and we want to thank the Human 13 Resources, Len Carsely here, for in spite of the 14 fact they are so busy, they have supported us to the 15 hilt in this area, and we also remain faithful to 16 our Office Director, Marty Rigilio for taking the 17 lead and give us support and the other senior staff 18 that are going to go there and make on-the-spot 19 offers.

20 We believe this initiative has been, and 21 continues to be, a success. However, the major 22 challenge continues to underrepresentation of Asian-23 Americans in supervisory and senior executive 24 service positions. To address this challenge, APAAC 25 recommends that Agency management increase Asian-

1 American participation in leadership programs and 2 high-profile management assignments and encourage 3 active participation in formal and informal
4 mentoring between SES managers and Asian-Americans.
5 Thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for your time and 6 attention.

7 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Thank you. Mr.
8 Solorio?

9 MR. SOLORIO: Good afternoon,
10 Commissioners. My name is Dave Solorio, and I'm the 11 Co-Chair for the Hispanic Employment Program 12 Advisory Committee. I'd like to thank you for the 13 opportunity to speak to you today. On behalf of 14 HEPAC, I want it recognized that NRC management has 15 made substantial progress in increasing Hispanic 16 representation over the last few years. We believe 17 this continued focus on recruiting, coupled with the 18 Intern Program, will continue to provide positive 19 results. We hope that these successes will continue 20 as the Agency addresses the underrepresentation of 21 Hispanics.

22 We also feel to ensure long-term success 23 it's even more important now to focus additional 24 attention on retention, because success breeds more 25 success. If people feel they have a rewarding

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 career path, the word will get out. To highlight a 2 point we made in our statement related to retention, 3 as the data shows, the numbers of Hispanics in 4 senior staff, supervisory and management ranks is 5 very low and has been constant going back at least 6 the last seven years. In particular, it's been over 7 15 years since a Hispanic entered the senior 8 executive service here at the NRC. Hispanics
9 currently only comprise one percent of the SES 10 ranks.

11 As we've said for several years now, 12 it's very critical that NRC management takes an 13 active role in development staff attempting to enter 14 the senior supervisory and management positions so 15 this long-standing item can be addressed. This also 16 has a secondary benefit of providing more models so 17 that the young staff feel they have a career path 18 here. HEPAC acknowledges that some effort has 19 occurred through the Leadership Retention Program to 20 feed the supervisory ranks, and therefore we hope it 21 will be continued. However, we know the NRC 22 management has the capacity to expend additional 23 effort needed to develop more senior staff through 24 our supervisory and management ranks. Thanks again 25 for this opportunity to share our recommendations.

1 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Thank you. Mr.
2 Marshall.

3 MR. MARSHALL: Good afternoon. My name
4 is Michael Marshall. I'm Co-Chair of the Advisory 5 Committee for African-Americans. On behalf of ACAA, 6 I'd like to thank you for the opportunity to address 7 the Commission. For the past two years when we've 8 addressed the Commission, our areas of interests 9 have remained largely the same. However, I'd like 10 to say there's been visible progress in each of the 11 areas we work with, SBCR, EDO, in particular Ms.
12 Norry, the individual program offices and H.R.

13 The areas of emphasis for ACAA is to 14 encourage and enhance African-Americans in SES, non-15 SES and SLS positions. In particular, though, I'd 16 like to emphasize the SES and SLS positions. Also 17 to make sure there's a good pipeline for that, we're 18 encouraging enhanced representation of African-19 Americans in what we consider the fetal groups for 20 those, which is your GG-14 and GG-15 positions.

21 And just working our way down the chain,
22 we also encourage and recommend African-Americans' 23 participation in development programs, again, to 24 help you get to the GG-15, the GG-14s, the 25 supervisory positions, those being the Leadership

1 Retention Program which was brought up today, the 2 SES Program, the Upward Mobility Programs.

3 And, finally, at the front end of all
4 this is the recruitment which has been a very good 5 success over the last year or two years here at the 6 NRC. I'd like to see continued representation of 7 African-Americans in the recruitment classes.

8 I would like to take the opportunity 9 here to kind of explain that recommendation we had 10 in our position paper. One benefit I and some other 11 African-Americans that met with Ms. Norry and these 12 groups over the last I think it's been a year and a 13 half now is even though we have visible progress as 14 far as some of the numbers go, sometimes in a lot of 15 these discussions there was still some level of 16 dissatisfaction, and a lot of that had to do with 17 what was mentioned with fair and equitable climate, 18 how some things were implemented.

19 And we really don't have anything to 20 measure how well we're doing in those areas. And 21 right now the NRC, the management in particular, has 22 committed a lot of resources to the EEO arena and it 23 would likely be if we had a more complete measure, 24 we could make sure those resources are used 25 effectively. And not only do the numbers increase

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 but the way people feel about the Agency, how they 2 feel about the fairness of programs or merit
3 staffing as it's implemented, that would probably go 4 a long way to making this a much better place to 5 work that. And, again, on behalf of the ACAA, I 6 would like to say thank you for this opportunity.

7 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Thank you. Ms.
8 Snyder?

9 MS. SNYDER: Good afternoon. My name is 10 Amy Snyder. I'm representing the Federal Women's 11 Program Advisory Committee. The Federal Women's 12 Program Advisory Committee's goals for fiscal year 13 2003 continue to be to enhance opportunities for 14 women to achieve positions to successfully advance 15 at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission through the 16 development of upward mobility positions, increased 17 vocational opportunities, aligning mentors with 18 women and training opportunities to prepare women 19 for more advanced positions within the Agency.

20 The Federal Women's Program Advisory 21 Committee would like to highlight some recent 22 progress towards these goals in the development of 23 administrative upward mobility positions. In the 24 Office of Nuclear Material, Safety and Safeguards 25 over the last year, several positions have been

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 identified as upward mobility in the administrative 2 area. The Federal Women's Program Advisory 3 Committee has drafted a report that provides 4 recommendations for potential mobility upward 5 positions and career enhancement opportunities in 6 the administrative support area.

7 Some of the recommendations include
8 update position descriptions, a draft position 9 description would be attached to the report and 10 would be available for all offices in order to 11 remove the requirements for stenography and include 12 requirements for computer skills and programs such 13 as Starfire and ADAMS. Other recommendations are to 14 encourage Agency managers to identify or develop 15 positions as upward mobility positions and identify 16 training opportunities that are key to success to 17 upward mobility in the administrative area. The 18 Federal Women's Advisory Program -- Federal Women's 19 Program Advisory Committee continues to track the 20 progress in these various goals that are included in 21 this year's objectives.

22 In closing, I would like to thank the 23 Office of Nuclear Regulatory -- Nuclear Reactor -- 24 NRR --

2 support and involvement in the Federal Women's 3 Program. Thank you.

4 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Thank you. Mr.
5 Ibrahim.

6 MR. IBRAHIM: Good afternoon, Mr.
7 Chairman, commissioners. On behalf of the Committee 8 on Age Discrimination, I would like to express my 9 thanks for giving us the opportunity to address the 10 Commission on aging issues. The Committee would 11 like to bring some of their concerns to your 12 attention. You'll notice that our current statement 13 has not markedly changed from previous statements 14 presented to the Commission. So far we have not 15 seen much in the way of positive action and response 16 to these concerns.

17 For example, we have recently analyzed 18 performance data for the last 15 years. That is 19 from 1988 to 2000. We found that the downgrading to 20 upgrading the staff over 15 years is about twice 21 those of the general staff. As you can see here, 22 this is here the issue of downgrading over upgrading 23 as a function of age. And, see, as you get older, 24 the downgrading increases with respect to upgrading.

25 The second example I would like to say

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 we examined data submitted in the SECY 02182 2 regarding the assignment in fiscal year 2002, and we 3 found that rotation of assignments for staff less 4 than 50 years was two and a half times the rate for 5 staff 50 years and older. And we can here show you 6 the percentage of staff under 39 years at the number 7 of rotations for the staff as a function of age 8 also. And this is over 60 years. So it seems also 9 as you get older, you get less rotation.

10 We recommend that the NRC investigate 11 why performance is more likely to be downgraded than 12 upgraded for older staff than younger staff and why 13 they are not getting more rotational assignments as 14 compared to the younger staff. Staff 50 years and 15 older are the core of this Agency. They possess the 16 critical judgments and experience which are 17 essential to the mission of the Agency. The Agency 18 needs to recognize and value their experience. We 19 hope in future briefings we can report to you that 20 progress has been made regarding this issue.

21 Finally, the Committee would like to 22 thank the EEO, Dr. Bill Travers, for meeting with us 23 to discuss our concerns and goals. In addition, we 24 thank Ms. Irene Little and her staff for their 25 cooperation providing us with performance appraisal

1 data for our continued analysis. Thank you.

2 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Thank you. Finally,
3 I'd like to call on Mr. Yielding who is here
4 representing the National Treasury Employees' Union.

5 MR. YIELDING: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, 6 Commissioners. My name is Dale Yielding. I'm the 7 local President here of Chapter 208 of the National 8 Treasury Employees' Union. I like to always keep 9 the Union's comments kind of directed towards EEO 10 since that's what the purpose of this meeting is, 11 even though our function and mission goals for the 12 Union are widespread for our employees.

13 And I guess the connection I make is 14 retention. Recruitment is, I guess, the focus of 15 EEO, and of course there's been a lot of talk about 16 retention, and I think the Union's aspect on that is 17 our major effort of always trying to improve the 18 workplace through, I guess, starting by changing the 19 collective bargaining agreement. We only looked at 20 that every two years, but we've made significant 21 changes last October of 2001. And I think if 22 everyone takes a look at the accomplishments and 23 maybe the agenda items of what we look at on a 24 monthly basis at the Agency of Labor/Management 25 Partnership Committee. This is issues where we

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 bring forward hopefully improvements to the Agency 2 and I guess improvements to the Agency could 3 directly associate with retaining employees here.

4 So we're always trying to bring this 5 forward, and I think our last accomplishment, of 6 course, was agreement on work-at-home. That program 7 is being implemented and hopefully it will be real 8 widespread in the future. And I guess in the future 9 here we're going to try to expand a pilot work-at-10 home -- not work-at-home but a pilot workplace 11 schedule that was implemented in Region 4 and we're 12 going to try to see if it might have some benefits 13 to be expanded throughout the Agency to people to 14 adjust their work schedule over a seven-day period 15 rather than just the current Monday through Friday 16 period.

17 A couple of comments on the statistics.
18 I talked with Irene about the informal versus the 19 formal EEO complaints. I was a little unclear about 20 the definition of informal complaint and Irene said 21 it was when an EEO counselor proceeded, through 22 authorization from the employee, to pursue a 23 resolution of the allegation. So that does not 24 include when the employee stops by the EEO 25 counselors with a concern where it might just be

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 discussed with a counselor. I'm not sure how many 2 of those are but whether they're worth counting, 3 whatever it is, it doesn't graduate into the formal 4 EEO counting stage. I'm not sure whether it had 5 significance or whether the counselor was able to 6 resolve it with an answer to a question or two.

7 But what it also doesn't encompass is 8 grievances and which might have EEO implications.
9 When an employee feels that they've been harmed and 10 they connect it with discrimination, they file an 11 EEO complaint. There's a twofold burden on the 12 employee there: One to prove they were harmed and 13 the second is to prove it was due to discrimination.
14 But if the employee is harmed and they don't want to 15 pursue discrimination, they can just file a 16 grievance if they feel like they've been harmed
17 through an appraisal or harmed through a merit 18 system promotion. And a lot of employees would 19 probably elect the easier route, to just use the 20 Union and go through filing a grievance. So 21 the recommendation might be twofold, to look at the 22 number of grievances that are filed, not necessarily 23 looking at whether there's an EEO implications of 24 discrimination with the grievance, but that might be 25 another measure of whether we have a good workplace

NEAL R. GROSS

1323 RHODE ISLAND AVE., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20005-3701

1 here to retain employees because the number of 2 grievances is direct relation to how satisfied the 3 employees are working here. So I'm sure that those 4 statistics will be available through the Union or 5 through Claude Berman in H.R., but we're trying to 6 train all our union stewards to resolve grievances 7 and I think in the past couple of years we've got 8 the numbers down considerably well. Thank you very 9 much.

10 CHAIRMAN MESERVE: Thank you. I would 11 like to thank all of the participants this afternoon 12 for their excellent presentations. I think it is 13 clear that we do have some challenges that are 14 before us, but I think it is also clear that we've 15 made some great progress as acknowledged by several 16 of the advisory committees that spoke here this 17 afternoon.

18 The most critical asset of this Agency
19 is our manpower. We depend crucially on the skills 20 of our staff in order to fulfill our function. And 21 in this context, it is important to hire and advance 22 the most competent people here. And it's completely 23 counterproductive to us as an agency to fail to 24 provide opportunities for all staff, regardless of 25 race, ethnicity, age or other irrelevant type

COURT REPORTERS AND TRANSCRIBERS

1 characteristics, and we must continue our efforts to 2 emphasize the assurance of equal opportunity for 3 all.

4 I'd also like just to note in closing 5 that our great appreciation to Irene Little for the 6 kind of presentation that we had today where we have 7 achieved great progress, which I'm sure is 8 attributable, in large part, to your efforts. We've 9 accomplished a lot thanks to you, and we very much 10 appreciate it and we're going to miss you. And with 11 that, we're adjourned.

12 MS. LITTLE: Thank you. Could you
13 indulge me for just a moment? I really did not want 14 to make this a discussion of my retirement, but 15 since it has come up I think I would be remiss in 16 not giving at least a couple of things. First of 17 all, I want to thank all of you who supported me 18 here, but I have to share with you the secret of my 19 success, and I do think that we've been successful, 20 and that's my hardworking staff. They're always 21 there. I want to thank them publicly in here so 22 that they know that I know the value that they have 23 given to this program and to Paul Bird who sits 24 quietly over here until he's spoken to and his staff 25 who've actually done a lot of what we are talking

1 about today as success. The EEO counselors, they're 2 in the background. The chairpersons of the EEO
3 advisory committees. There are a lot of people that 4 are making this program a success and I am sure it 5 will continue regardless of who sits in my seat.
6 Thank you very much.
